The Journal of Applied Gerontology provides an international forum for information that has clear and immediate applicability to the health, care, and quality of life of older persons. Each issue brings you the latest research and analysis from the field—and helps you apply it to your everyday practice. The Journal publishes articles in all subdisciplines of aging whose findings, conclusions, or suggestions have clear and sometimes immediate applicability to the problems encountered by older persons. The Journal of Applied Gerontology covers all areas of gerontological practice and policy, such as:

- Caregiving
- Community-based palliative care
- Demographic transition
- Health
- Leisure activities
- Housing
- Long-term care
- Mental health
- Retirement planning
- Sexuality

The Journal of Applied Gerontology particularly invites manuscripts featuring the systematic evaluation and outcomes assessment of programs, services, and initiatives targeting older adult populations.

Manuscripts should be submitted electronically through SAGETRACK.
