

Call for Papers

Complementary Health Practice Review

EDITOR

Susan Gaylord, PhD

*UNC School of Medicine
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill*

Complementary Health Practice Review, an international, peer-reviewed journal, is encouraging the submission of manuscripts on a variety of topics related to alternative, complementary, and integrative health care.

Complementary Health Practice Review's mission is to disseminate well-informed communication about important topics that impact complementary and integrative practice, promoting discussion across disciplinary, organizational, and specialty boundaries.

Topics may address evidence of efficacy and effectiveness of therapies, cost-benefit analyses, and research methodological issues, as well as educational, cultural, biopsychosocial, demographic, political, philosophical, economic, and legal aspects of complementary and alternative therapies and integrative practice.

Both quantitative and qualitative research is considered, as are evidenced-based reviews of the literature.

Publications should be submitted by e-mail to CHPReditor@med.unc.edu or mail a hard copy (along with Microsoft Word compatible computer disk) to the following:

Susan Gaylord, PhD
Editor, Complementary Health Practice Review
c/o Program on Integrative Medicine
C.B. #7200, 1148 Main Hospital
School of Medicine
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, NC 27599

For manuscript guidelines please see a recent issue of the journal, visit the Manuscript Submission Guidelines online at <http://chpr.sagepub.com>, or contact the managing editor, John Claydon, via email at john_claydon@med.unc.edu. For more information on Complementary Health Practice Review and to access a free sample issue, visit <http://chpr.sagepub.com>.