

Access ASJ Videos on TouchMD

Aesthetic Surgery Journal is pleased to announce a new partnership with TouchMD, an interactive preoperative consultation tool for educating patients in the exam room. TouchMD, an ASAPS Endorsed Member Service, allows surgeons to record valuable patient- and procedure-specific information in an interactive portal, which can then be accessed by patients from the comfort of their homes; through the TouchMD platform, they can revisit their diagnosis and operative plan on the internet.

Now, surgeons can also view Aesthetic Surgery Journal's operative videos on TouchMD screens in their exam and operating rooms. Through the Reference Library on the surgeon login screen in the TouchMD portal, more than 20 operative demonstrations are available for procedures in body contouring, breast surgery, cosmetic medicine, facial surgery, rhinoplasty, and oculoplastics. Whether you'd like to "brush up" on a specific procedure before entering the operating room or just to show your staff a specific technique, these videos are a valuable resource. For more information, log into your TouchMD physician profile or contact the Aesthetic Surgery Journal Editorial office (journal@surgery.org).
